

Parish Update

A Weekly Newsletter of St. Margaret Mary Parish

Fourth Sunday in Ordinary Time

January 30, 2017

Systems. One thing with which humanity has proven its exceptional ability is the creation of systems. We have sewage systems, air conditioning systems, road systems, communications systems and social systems to name a few. However, how are you operating in the most basic system, the human system? Your day-to-day relationships with those in the environments in which you interact? Are you enriching, enhancing, flourishing? Or are you getting through the day?

Look in this week's e-mail for opportunities to engage in ways that help you and others grow closer to Christ, being nourished by and being enriched through our human relationships. You may find such enrichment expands to all our relationships.

Quote of the Week

“There can be no renewal of our relationship with nature without a renewal of humanity itself. There can be no ecology without adequate anthropology.”

- Pope Francis, Laudato Si

Question of the Week

“How is Jesus calling me to live a simple, non-violent life?”

One way to think about a life that is simple and non-violent is to consider what simple and non-violent is not.

Exploitation.

Echoing Pope Francis' encyclical on the environment, American environmental activist Wendell Berry wonders, “If competition is the correct relation of creatures to one another and to the earth, then we must ask why exploitation is not more successful than it is.”

You don't have to be a pope or an environmental scientist to know that the Beatitudes spoken by Jesus during the Sermon on the Mount offer a better prospect for a successful, simple and non-violent life.

To see what Jesus had to say about a better way of life take a look at Matthew 5:3-12.
